"The Point of Research may Occupy a long Time to be Expressed at last in brief Phrase."

This list of the "Nearest of Kin," two of whom were required to sign each inventory, is taken in brief form from the inventories recorded in Annapolis, Maryland, where the various proceedings before the Deputy Commissioners of the Prerogative Probate Court were required to be returned.

The work of compiling the kindred of deceased Marylanders for publication was begun for the COUNTY COURT NOTE-BOOK by Mrs. George W. Hodges, who labored for years so faithfully and so intelligently in the archives in the State Land Office, as it was then constituted. After Mrs. Hodges' death, the present compiler continued the work.

At first it seemed sufficient to list only those entries which gave the names of the kindred, but later this compiler realized that there is as much information in "Noe Kinn in this Country" and similar entries, as when the known relatives signed, and the list now contains every reference to an inventory, except occasionally the omission of some small additional inventory not usually signed by the relatives.

It is not possible in these booklets, at the moderate price fixed, to make a complete index. The names of the decedents, however, as well as those in No. 1 of this series, will be found in a reference alphabet following page 17. The reference is to the original volume and page of the Annapolis record, which will be found following in consecutive order the names of the "Next of Kin."
